To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to recommend Alin, with whom I had the opportunity to work closely at PSPC and later at IRCC. Throughout our time as colleagues, Alin consistently demonstrated exceptional technical ability, professionalism, and a collaborative spirit that made him a highly valued member of every team he joined.

At PSPC, Alin played a key role in developing the Pay Update solution and automating the HR Timeliness Report, both of which significantly improved efficiency and accuracy for our group. During this period, he quickly became the team's IBM Cognos expert, often serving as the go-to person for complex reporting and analytics needs. His ability to learn rapidly and apply new knowledge effectively set him apart.

Beyond his technical strengths, Alin is known for his excellent personality. He is patient, respectful, and genuinely enjoyable to work with — qualities that earned him the appreciation of everyone on the team. His calm approach and willingness to help others foster a positive and productive work environment.

At IRCC, Alin continued to excel by helping automate key dashboards delivered to ADMO, supporting critical decision-making across the organization. He also contributed to the development and sharing of Line of Business KPIs, ensuring leadership had clear, accurate, and timely insights.

Alin is a dedicated professional with strong analytical skills, a collaborative mindset, and a consistently positive attitude. I am confident he will bring tremendous value to any organization he joins, and I recommend him without hesitation.

Sincerely,

Tina Zeng
